Hello members of the Korean Finance Association!

We are exciting to announce that the Korean Society of Finance holds its inaugural “2023 KFA Young Scholar Workshop” at the Financial Investment Education Institute on December 1st and December 2nd.

For this year's inaugural event, prof. Sumit Agarwal (National University of Singapore) and prof. Jianfeng Yu (Tsinghua University) will be invited to participate in in-depth academic sessions with our promising young researchers for two days. Aforementioned two scholars have published many papers in well-known prestigious journals and serves as editorial boards members at many leading journals.

Through this inaugural event, we hope to provide young researchers with an opportunity to present and discuss their research results with internationally recognized scholars and learn their scholastic leadership in finance. This event should help our young scholars develop their relationship with international finance research networks and expose their research works to international journals.

We would like to thank our members for their unwavering interest and support and hope to meet you at the seminar.
